SECTION III STARTING

The home player has the option to throw first at the bullseye.

- A League, first bullseye, B and C League, closest to the bullseye throws first in the first leg; all leagues will use alternate leg method.
- In throwing for the bull, if a player has a bounce-out that player will throw again.
- If your opponent knocks your dart out of the dartboard you both throw again.
- If the first player throws a single or double bull the second thrower has the choice of whether he/she wants it pulled from the dartboard to have a clearer shot.
- The scorer shall determine who is closer to the bullseye in B and C league. The scorer may not touch the darts to determine the winner. If the scorer is unsure both players must throw again at the bullseye. In the absence of a scorekeeper, players must agree who is closer to the bullseye. If they cannot agree, players will rethrow.
